Sunshine, blue skies, cool breeze and a sweet, almost tangy feeling that immerses your wistful moods with the soothing sounds of Bossa Nova from the unmistakable voice of Lisa Ono ... be enthralled by the magic of romance, and nostalgia, that leaves a warm afterglow.

Born in Sao Paulo and a native Portuguese speaker, Lisa Ono has long been considered Japan's finest protégé of Bossa Nova. An exceptional singer, accomplished guitarist and songwriter, she has collaborated with numerous legendary musicians from Tom Jobim to Toots Thielemans and Henri Salvador.

With 29 albums released to date, Lisa Ono has won the hearts of fans from all over the world with her silky voice, staggering guitar work and winsome smile. Her style and voice is reminiscent of the Brazilian divas, Astrud Gilberto and Gal Costa, while her delivery and tone are exquisite. Lisa Ono's mastery of the natural, laid-back Bossa Nova sound received the stamp of approval from the late Antonio Carlos Jobim, with whom she had collaborated.

Her distinctive interpretation of materials is extraordinary, giving popular classics a fresh, new lease of life.
